

Participation Case study:

“John Doe” is a Level 3 student in the IELP. During the fall term, he has been absent twice. Once he was late at the beginning of the day and once late coming back from lunch. He is usually attentive in class but occasionally has to be reminded about looking at his phone when not authorized to do so. John generally takes part in class discussions and seems to have a good understanding of the material. He usually uses English in the classroom but has occasionally been heard speaking with other students in his L1 during class time. John is always respectful to his instructors and follows all classroom rules, except for the occasional lapse regarding use of his cellphone during class time.

Use the rubric presented at the webinar to assess John’s participation.